February 2023

Dear colleague,

We are pleased to present the 2023-2024 edition of the Broome-Tioga BOCES' Services Guide. Within these pages, you will find a comprehensive listing of our many programs and services along with a brief description of each, a contact person at BOCES, and a service number relating to a Co-Ser application that enables a district to receive BOCES aid. This services guide is designed to complement our "final request for services" (FRS).

I want to extend an open invitation to visit any of our programs and speak with our dedicated staff. With the fiscal challenges we all face, I believe it is sometimes easy to overlook the passion that all of us bring to improving student performance and success.

While the cost of education is often the subject of debate, I hope we never lose sight of the main reason we do what we do - to help ALL students reach their full potential.

I am confident you will be pleased with our efforts to provide quality programs and services. Please contact us with any questions or suggestions you might have.

Our objective is to provide services that meet the needs of all of our students and our school districts. Your input and suggestions are important to us as we strive to improve our service offerings.

As always, I assure you that we at BOCES remain committed to our primary mission- Enriching Lives Through Education- and I look forward to working together to provide opportunities for success in education.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Stone

Services

A variety of programs offered to client schools and the community.

Co-Ser

“Cooperative Service” applications (Co-Sers) for every BOCES service must be filed and approved by the New York State Education Department before a service can be provided. BOCES is required to file Co-Sers for every service it offers, regardless of whether the program is aided.

Shared Service

A service in which two or more school districts participate. Sharing is one of the requirements necessary for service costs to be considered for BOCES aid.

Itinerant Service

BOCES may employ staff members to provide direct services on a shared basis among school districts. The content areas can include all certified and specialty support personnel. Services can be provided at the local school, at BOCES or at another appropriate site. They can be delivered at certain hours each day, certain days per week or certain periods during a school year. However, to receive BOCES aid, no district’s “share” of an itinerant staff member’s schedule can exceed 60 percent.

Cross Contract

A cross contract enables a component district of Broome-Tioga BOCES to obtain services provided by other BOCES in New York state. A cross contract with Broome-Tioga BOCES must be filed before the service from the other BOCES can be provided or aided.

Services Guide

This document is designed to assist clients in understanding the nature of the services being offered. Client needs and requests are incorporated in the design of our services. In addition, services not listed in this guide may be provided if clients request them.

Final Request for Services (FRS)

A commitment by a school district for services to be rendered in the following school year (July-June).

BOCES Overview

What is a BOCES?

BOCES is a unique and innovative educational institution established to help public schools share services. BOCES stands for Board of Cooperative Educational Services and operates as an extension of local school districts and the New York State Education Department.

New York state is divided into 37 BOCES regions, and public schools within each region decide whether, and to what extent, they want to participate in their BOCES. Each BOCES operates under the regulations and guidelines of the state education department but is unique because of the varied geographic and demographic requirements of its participating schools.

All BOCES operate under the fundamental concepts of cooperation, coordination, interdependence and shared decision-making to fulfill their role of providing services to their primary clients, the local school districts. These services vary from direct instructional programs in career education and special education to providing instructional resources, technical services, staff development and management systems.

BOCES' chief goal is to meet the educational and financial challenges of an ever-changing world. These challenges include equalizing educational opportunity, preparing adults and younger students for useful careers, streamlining educational management, and maintaining diversity and quality in New York state public education, all at a cost affordable to taxpayers.

PALS PROGRAM

General criteria for BOCES services

1. Any function or service supported within the service budgets of BOCES must be approved by the state education department.

A cooperative service application for each service must be submitted and approved by the state education department before that service begins, regardless of the source of funding.

2. Each aided service must be operated on a shared basis. To be considered a shared service, each must be provided to two or more districts or one district and BOCES. Application and approval of a shared service is for the total program presented, not just that portion used by the individual districts requesting the service.
3. Duplication of state aid must be avoided.
4. BOCES may provide services for which no state aid is claimed.
5. Services must meet or exceed recognized standards to justify the use of BOCES aid.

A new service should be initiated based on established need, after participating districts have indicated interest in and commitment to supporting the service.

Each shared service should be developed based on effectiveness or economics, or as a demonstration project, or some combination of these factors. There must be clear justification for a BOCES-shared program or service when it would supplant services previously sponsored by the school districts.

Cooperative programs and services should avoid duplicating, overlapping or de-emphasizing responsibility that properly belongs to the school districts.

6. Teachers and other professional employees of BOCES are subject to the same certification requirements as school district employees.
7. Physical facilities must be available and meet standards and requirements of the state education department.
8. The state education department limits a single district to three-fifths (60 percent) of an itinerant staff members' time and that person must be shared with another district or BOCES.

A person may not be a BOCES employee providing a service to a school district and, at the same time, be an employee of that school district in a similar or different instructional area.

BOCES Operating Principles

General principles governing BOCES

1. BOCES provides services as an extension of local school districts to supplement, advise and support their activities and programs.
  2. All BOCES activities must meet the current requirements of the Education Law, regulations of the commissioner, and recognized Standards of Practice, as applicable to a school district operating a similar activity unless BOCES is specifically exempt.
  3. Approval of service is for one year only. Each service will be reviewed annually through the New York State Education Department using the following criteria:
  4. Annual evaluations will consider the long-range plans of the department as well as specific criteria appropriate to the service.
- The practical effects on children will have a bearing on the mechanics of phasing out a program.
  - Approval of service applications should not be expected in circumstances where the proposed service could or should be rendered effectively by the individual districts.
  - Sparsity of population, distance, travel time and other pertinent factors will be considered with respect to applying criteria for any specific service.
  - Major programs such as career education and computer services should be developed with ongoing user committee involvement at the technical and executive levels, particularly in planning, monitoring, and evaluating.

Fiscal operating principles

BOCES is an annual contract service agency accountable to local school districts and to the New York State Education Department. It has no authority to levy taxes or to sell bonds for capital construction.

BOCES derives its revenue from charges to component and non-component schools, as well as from federal grants, special state grants and tuition fees from individuals.

Each school district receives state aid for the approved expenditures that the BOCES makes in support of services to that district. See pages 8-11 for more information about BOCES aid. BOCES may not carry a fund balance within the general fund and must return all surplus funds to client school districts annually.

Budgeting principles

BOCES must annually submit preliminary budget estimates to the New York State Education Department for approval. All appropriations necessary to defray expenses of that service for a fiscal year must be paid by respective clients for that fiscal year; e.g. equipment replacement, fringe benefits, transportation, phones, etc.

BOCES budget is a dynamic document in that shared services appropriations are continually revised to reflect changing client requests.

Appropriations for operation and maintenance, transportation, mailing, duplicating and other such services are distributed among the operating divisions.

Each BOCES program budget must stand independent of others. Funds may not be interchanged among the various program budgets.

BOCES Operating Principles

Cost-saving principles

BOCES seeks to minimize the cost of providing service to its component school districts through:

- Vigorous application for state and federal funds to defray program costs.
- Use of revenue from patron services in occupational education to help defray the cost of instructional supplies and materials.
- Extending services to non-component districts after the needs of component districts have been met.
- Seeking donations of equipment and services.
- Charging districts for only requested services.

Development of service contracts

Budgets are developed, contracts are sent to the districts, and amendments to the contracts occur throughout the year as districts request additional services. After the end of the year, the difference between the amount paid to BOCES and the amount expensed or encumbered is a refundable surplus to the schools. Districts then receive BOCES aid on approved expenditures for that year.

Budgeting and billing

1. The BOCES budget is developed by formatting discrete budgets for each program and for administration and capital expenses.
2. The BOCES annual meeting is held between April 1-15. Participating districts vote on the BOCES administrative budget between April 16-30.
3. By May 1, according to Section 1950 of the Education Law, schools must commit to those BOCES services they wish to purchase the following year through board resolution signed by the district board president.
4. By May 15, the BOCES board adopts its budget for the subsequent school year.
5. Schools may make changes to their enrollments in special education through June 15. The changes may be made with the superintendent's (or designee's) signature.
6. BOCES sends AS-7 contracts to districts (or designees) in May for the services requested.
7. BOCES sends AS-7 contracts to districts at year's end to adjust for changes.

8. Schools pay for BOCES services from September through June based on the initial and final AS contracts.

BOCES charges to districts for administrative and capital costs

Financial payments to BOCES from participating districts are based on an annual contract. This contract classifies by law the costs as either administrative, capital or program/service.

Administrative costs generally include:

- Central administration and clerical costs.
- Allocated portion of plant operation costs.
- Board expenses.
- Central support services (business and personnel).

The capital budget includes facility construction and lease expenses, repayment of indebtedness related to capital projects, and related expenses.

Each participating district is charged a share of administrative and capital budgets using a ratio representing each district's "resident weighted average daily attendance" (RWADA) as a percentage of the total RWADA of the component districts. Each district's BOCES aid ratio is shown on page 11 of this guide.

Service costs

The methodology for allocating service costs depends on the nature of the program. Tuition costs are generally developed for instructional programs. In non-instructional programs, the total program cost and the number of districts purchasing the service are taken into account. A uniform methodology for service costs must be approved annually by at least three-quarters of the component school districts.

Charges for the Center for Educational Support and Technology

Charges for services from the Center for Educational Support and Technology are based on each district's final request for services (FRS). Unit prices for services are calculated based on the whole cost of providing the service, including equipment, supplies, personnel, etc.

If a district plans to use a service it is not currently using, it is important that personnel from the district and BOCES meet to discuss costs, advantages, features, and limitations of the service. This will ensure we can be sure that there are no misunderstandings about the new service. When a district decides to acquire a new or additional service, the district superintendent or designee must complete, sign and return to BOCES an "additional request for service" form.

BOCES Operating Principles

Charges for Instructional Programs

Special Education

Special Education programs are FTE based programs. Districts identify their enrollment needs on May 1. The final request for service, is the pledged financial support by the district. A district will be charged the actual use (FTE) on the monthly supplemental contracts from September through June.

The date of enrollment for new entrants is the date of formal written acceptance by BOCES of the pupil in a BOCES program. The date of termination from a specific program is the date a formal written notice is received by the Instructional Programs student data center from the chairperson of the committee on special education in the school district. Our enrollment recording system reflects the variable shown here:

1. Individual pupil count by district and by program option:

1 month = .1

*1 week = .025 (1/4 x .1)

*Enrollment during any week is billed at .025 for that week.

School year = 40 weeks. Therefore, a pupil enrolling on the first day of school in September through the balance of the school year would be recorded:

.025/wk x 40 wks = 1.0

A pupil enrolling January 31 through the balance of the school year would be recorded:

.025/wk x 20 wks = .5

2. Total pupil count by district by program.
3. Grand total enrollment by program.
4. Index of participation by district by program:

Total pupil count by district (FTEE) *

Grand total enrollment in program

* (FTEE - Full-time equivalent enrollment)

Participating school districts will receive a full-time equivalent enrollment status report with their supplemental contracts. This report details any supplemental costs incurred. Actual expenditures by programs are determined through June 30. Participating districts are allocated actual costs for each program:

Total pupil count
FTEE by district      X      Program

---

Grand total
Expenditure
Enrollment FTEE

Alternative Education

Alternative education is a tuition-per-pupil based program. Districts identify their enrollment needs on May 1. A district will be charged tuition for the number of pupils for which it has pledged financial support on May 1, and for any additional pupils it enrolls.

Career & Technical Education

The district charge for Career & Technical Education is based on a ratio of prior year district enrollment in Career & Technical Education to total enrollment in Career & Technical Education. The charge to each district is affected by the number of students enrolled by a district and the total number of students enrolled by all districts. This permits districts to enroll as many students as they wish without incurring additional current-year charges.

Charges for Management Support Services

Charges for services are based on each district's final request for services and supplemental requests. It is recommended that school officials call their BOCES contact person to plan the service to meet district needs.

Determining BOCES aid

BOCES submits "Co-Sers" (cooperative service applications) to the state education department (SED) for any service it proposes to operate. The SED reviews the program description and takes appropriate action. Action categories are:

Approved with aid—All expenditures of the program are aided. Salaries in excess of $30,000, however, are not aided.

Approved without aid—BOCES may operate the program, but no BOCES aid will be paid. This can be because the program is already aided through another category, such as transportation or handicapped, or the program might be a special categorical grant. If BOCES proposes to operate a service where SED does not consider the BOCES role significant, SED may approve the program for operation through BOCES, but will not provide the BOCES aid incentive.

Approved - varying aid—The program may be operated with aid for only certain portions of the program. An example is the duplicating service. Any supplies (such as paper) that remain the property of the district are not aidable, but other costs of operation are aidable (labor, copier, toner supplies).

Not approved—BOCES may not operate the program.

BOCES Operating Principles

The BOCES aid paid to school districts (except for BOCES rental aid, which is “current year aid”) is paid in the two years following the year of expenditure. At year-end, BOCES submits financial reports to the SED. BOCES also submits an aid request on behalf of each district for the amount of eligible BOCES aid. BOCES aid claims must take into account the aid restrictions placed by the SED on each program.

The SED audits state aid claims before payment is made. The aid payments are sent to the BOCES, which then disburses them to the districts.

BOCES Operating Principles

Aid restrictions that apply to all programs

In addition to a $30,000 cap on aidable salaries for BOCES staff, the following aid restrictions apply to all programs:

- Materials that become district property
- Temporary staffing agencies
- Shared staff assigned more than 60 percent to a single district
- Transportation costs for students
- Instructional and non-instructional technology equipment purchases and installation costs, unless the district demonstrates that such shared service is cost-effective. This aid restriction applies to the following services:
  - Common learning objectives
  - Instructional networking services
  - All administrative computer services under Co-Ser 610

Aid restrictions for specific programs are noted where applicable.

District Superintendent Services

Contact: District Superintendent
Rebecca Stone, 607-766-3802
Email: rstone@btboces.org

The district superintendent for a BOCES must wear several hats and provide numerous services to component school districts.

The district superintendent is the chief executive officer for BOCES, acts as a liaison between component school districts and the New York State Education Department, and serves as a consultant on various school-related topics and issues.

These services are provided to component schools as part of the basic BOCES administrative fee.

Some specific duties of the district superintendent are as follows:

Chief executive officer for BOCES

As the chief executive officer of the BOCES, the district superintendent needs strong leadership, management, fiscal, personnel, and communication skills. Overseeing day-to-day operations and long-term activities also requires a good working relationship with the BOCES Board of Trustees.

In addition to managing the operations of the BOCES and a net services budget, the district superintendent is active in developing new BOCES services for component school districts to ensure the delivery of top-quality educational programs.

As a representative of the state education department, the district superintendent assists local districts with regulations and policies from the SED.

Liaison activities

The district superintendent facilitates communication between districts, local businesses, and area agencies. The superintendent also coordinates changes in educational programs among the various districts to meet the region's changing needs.

Consultation and coordination

Consultation and coordination for local districts includes such activities as management planning, local program development, policy actions, superintendent and board appraisals, contract negotiations, and in-service opportunities.

Selection of school superintendents

The district superintendent can assist districts with filling vacancies for school superintendents rather than having districts pay additional fees for a private consulting firm. The district superintendent works with districts to assess their needs and requirements for the position and helps facilitate the selection process.

Public outreach and publicity

The district superintendent is often called upon for public relations and publicity activities to promote various educational programs and initiatives in the region. In addition, the district superintendent coordinates regional forums and workshops to involve various business and agency groups in the ongoing process of education reform.
